

March 3, 2021 – Community Climate Preparedness Workshop 3

We survived for 8,000 years, we survived colonization and we will survive climate change. That is our story.

I'm passionate about my family, my community and our collective future and my words and presentation style is different, That's my story.

The message is the same – what we do today determines our tomorrow and what you believe, you can achieve.

Climate change is the result of humanities cumulative impacts on land and resources. Harm reduction/harm reversal are the actions we can do/take today to slow down, end or reverse “death by a thousand cuts”.

Transition/adaption is the actions we can do/take today either proactively/response mode to growing extreme weather impacts on our natural and built systems.

It's complicated, overwhelming and downright scary. Note - we have the people, time, tech and money to do actions....

Kanakas website is an “open to all” way you and others can monitor what we are doing....it's not lots but we are doing.....small and incremental advancements across 6 identified areas with measurable results...

That's our plan 😊

Regards – Chief Patrick Michell
chief@kanakabarband.ca